I am under anticoagulation treatment with Pixar® to prevent blood clots

Information for healthcare professionals

- Pixar® is an oral anticoagulant acting by direct selective inhibition of factor Xa.
- Pixar® may increase the risk of bleeding. In case of major bleeding events, it should be stopped immediately.
- Treatment with Pixar® does not require routine monitoring of exposure. A calibrated quantitative anti-Factor Xa assay may be useful in exceptional situations, e.g., overdose and emergency surgery (prothrombin time (PT), international normalized ratio (INR) and activated partial thromboplastin time (aPTT) clotting tests are not recommended) - see SmPC.
- An agent to reverse the anti-factor Xa activity of apixaban is available.
